Gentlemen:

The terms of office of four of the directors of this authority will expire about one month from now on August 1, 1987. I attach a copy of a letter to you dated January 7, 1987 which explained a problem contained in the language of the ordinances which created the authority. As it stands now, the four expiring terms cannot be filled by reappointing the present members who are:

Tom Cureton, Robert Flannigan, Tullos Mead, and Norman Tate.

I can assure you that the authority cannot afford to lose these four members. What must happen is, the creating ordinances in the quorum court and all of the cities and towns of the county must be amended by striking or changing the terminology which limits reappointment to no more than four.

For obvious reasons, I am not comfortable with the authority promoting this change in its own selfish interest and I am only comfortable with pointing it out to our creators, namely you and the other mayors of Craighead county, to see what you what to do about it, if anything. I do know we need to get it corrected before August 1 if at all possible because we must have a valid, properly organized authority in order to proceed with the various types of things we are about to get into. Please give it your attention.

Very truly,

Charles Frierson, III
