This is an aerial photograph of a property. The property contains two main buildings with dark roofs. The building on the left is a smaller, rectangular structure. The building on the right is a larger, more complex structure with a curved roofline. A large, paved parking lot is situated between the two buildings. The surrounding area is mostly bare, brown earth with some sparse vegetation. A road runs along the right side of the property, and a fence line is visible in the background.
