Requesting a Variance/Exception for the 10-foot boundary zone. Previous permit (permit# 2021-0003431) that was granted to me back in August of 2021 did not show the 10-foot boundary zone, therefore during the permits timing I had concrete laid within the boundaries of plans in the permit. Since then, I have not been able to get the structure built within the permit's timeframe. I applied for a new permit last month for the structure to be built with the square footage staying the same. While applying for the new permit I was told that it needed to be 10 feet or more from my principal dwelling. I would have abided to the rule if I had known on the first permit but did lay the concrete less than 10 feet. I would like to get a variance on this since my concrete has already been laid if possible. Please let me know if you have any questions on this my phone # 870-530-6608
